

A photograph of a light-colored, possibly concrete or plaster, building. On the left, there is a large window with a dark frame and vertical bars. Below the window, the ground is cluttered with various items: a black tire, a red hydraulic jack, a grey metal drum, and some orange equipment. To the right of the window, there is a large, open garage door. A silver hatchback car is parked in the driveway in front of the garage. Further down the driveway, another car is visible. The building has a simple, functional appearance with some signs of wear and discoloration on the walls. The sky is clear and blue.
