

A photograph of a modern living room. A light beige sectional sofa is positioned against a white wall, adorned with three matching square pillows. Above the sofa hangs a long, horizontal abstract painting with dark, vertical strokes. In front of the sofa is a small, round, white coffee table with a wire mesh base, resting on a large, light-colored, textured area rug. To the left, a dark wooden desk is partially visible with a white lamp. A large window with dark grey curtains and a balcony railing is on the left side of the room, offering a view of a building exterior. A red watermark is visible in the center of the image.
